Greetings !

Greetings to Kipina Indonesia parents, welcome to the first edition of our e-newsletter which will be published regularly as the summary of news and events as well as articles and information about us Kipina Kids Indonesia.

We are delighted that finally in the year 2021, Kipinä is here in Indonesia and despite the challenges, our first campus has started its onsite programs with the support from the Tangerang school district and all Kipinä Indonesia stakeholders. Kipinä with its inspiring & child-friendly learning environment, qualified staff, seamless communication app, and its curriculum aims to provide holistic education, create a lifelong love of learning and promote children's well-being.

It is our hope that Kipinä's presence in Indonesia will ignite a transformation in early childhood education in which children will be the center of learning and inquiry learning is fostered through play. Thank you parents for giving us Kipinä Kids Indonesia the opportunity to take part in your child's development and education.

Guided learning through play at school

Many vivid images have captured us lately as educators here in Kipinä. Seeing the little children freely interacting with their peers, running around in the playground, and giggling at others' responses has been our everyday portraits of true happiness in early years education. Yes! The lively and lovely days in preschools have resumed, and we know well that each of us would have these images stay for a very long time.

Kipinä teachers have now been very busy, yet excited, with unstoppable questions from this bunch of little kids. "Miss, why there are purple leaves in our garden", "Where does the wind go?!", "Why we need to take turns, Miss?".

What a joy for us hearing their everyday chit-chats commenting on things happening around them. They have been exploring a new world through their interactions with their schoolmates and primarily through the playful learning in Kipinä. Their recent encounters with the school community and its fun activities have brought them to a higher level of their development stages. Play-based learning has been widely implemented in the earliest childhood education as the foundation of learning. Many kinds of research have demonstrated that play experience, especially with peers, is a very important aspect of the pre-education stage (Stagnitti, Paatsch, Nolan & Campbell, 2020).

Guided learning through play at school

Play is utilized as a vehicle for learning and remains at the center of innovation and creativity as it gives spaces for the children to learn in a context where they are at their best situation for reception (Ontario Ministry of Education, 2016). Whenever the children are playing, they inquire using their thoughts and imagination to discover, question, explore, manipulate, share, collaborate, develop and innovate. Children are making meaning of the new world they encounter and sharing their perceptions with others. Concurrently, the children's cognitive functions are stimulated and processed through these activities and a wide range of capabilities are fostered to high-level learning.

Early childhood centers which implement a play-based approach involved collaboration between children-initiated and teacher-guided learning. Teachers provide opportunities that allow children's learning motivation to grow and their inquiry stance stretched; working out their ideas and building what they have learned to deeper understanding and further comprehension. And for school, it should establish an optimal learning environment to make effective use of content, time, and spaces so the children's well-being is also fostered. The outdoor classroom provides a rich multi-sensory experience for the children and promotes stewardship for a larger world, as they are exposed to natural materials and creating the meaning of being part of the society (Williams, etc. 2021).

Exploration is Play. Playful learning brings delight for the children, as they wonder about the new discovery and feel excited for having ownership in their activities.

Independence Day!

Highlights of events (August 2021)

August is our special month as we celebrate our Independence Day. Indonesia's Independence Day is traditionally celebrated with interesting festivals and games. During the Traditional Games week in Kipinä, we introduced some traditional games that are usually played for celebrating Independence Day. To end the Traditional Games week, on Friday, August 20, we had an online Independence Day celebration, with a fashion show and singing competition for Kipinä students. It was one fine and fun day.

Literature Week!

Highlights of events (September 2021)

Literature and happiness can synergize!

In September we had Literature week. We promoted the value of books in literacy education as well as the enjoyment and enlightenment of children in literature. Throughout Literature Week, children had the opportunity to participate in a range of experiences to celebrate meaningful stories and inspiring characters. Not only did teachers read the stories for students, but Kipinä parents also took active participation by reading bedtime stories to their children. In addition to that, our Kindergarten students had shown their new skill; reading stories for their younger kids at the Nursery level. On Friday, Sep 17, we celebrated the peak of literature week by having all students and teachers dress up their favorite characters from the stories they read.

United Nations Day!

Highlights of events (October 2021)

Happy United Nations Day!

October was another fun and cheerful month we had in Kipinä. Our children traveled the world with their cute passports and their adorable costumes. They explored other cultures by visiting the countries and enjoying the performances from each culture.

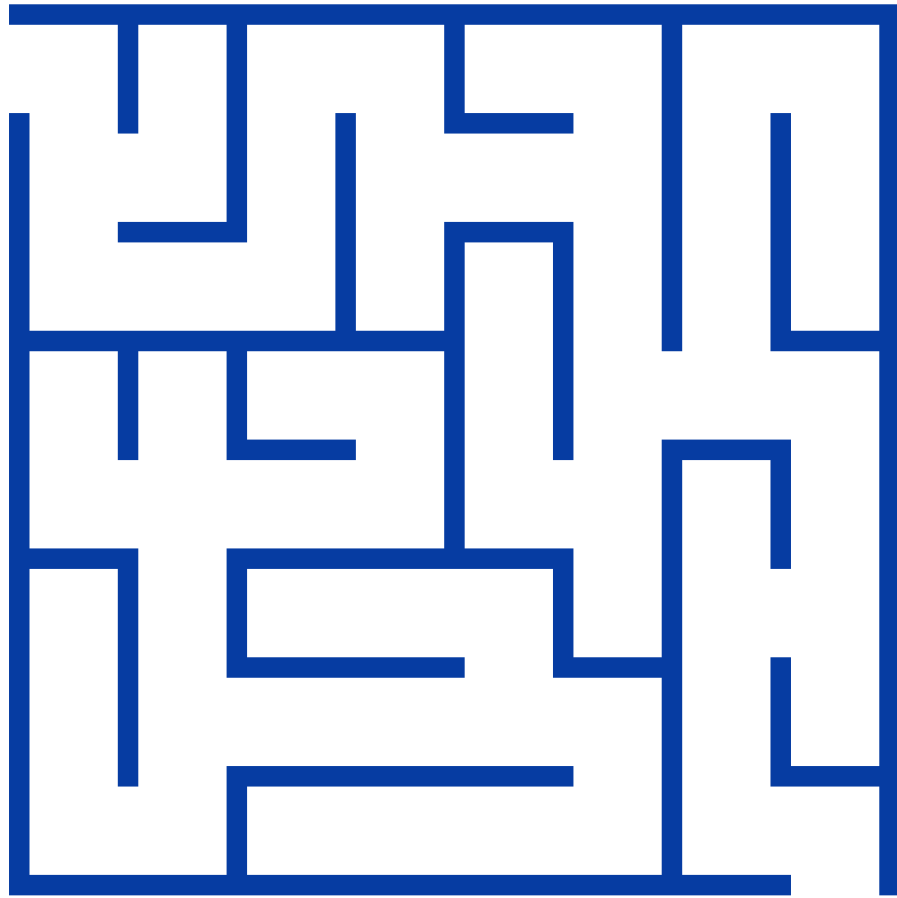

It was good learning of their awareness of the world and appreciation of other's culture and uniqueness. Tribute to all Kipinä parents for their effort in preparing the children to look best in their costumes and their performance during the event series we had in Kipinä.
